March 18, 2020 | (Time to read: 2 minutes)

Munck Wilson Mandala has added litigation partner Robert Linkin to the firm's Austin office. Linkin represents clients in complex litigation, securities litigation, and class action lawsuits. He brings more than 24 years of legal experience advising clients in business disputes, financial reporting, and commercial litigation.

"Rob is a talented litigator with a great reputation," said MWM's managing partner William A. Munck. "His unique practice complements our corporate and litigation practices, and his entrepreneurial spirit is a great fit for the Austin market."

Linkin is well known in the legal industry as an accomplished litigator and class action attorney with both defense and plaintiff skills in the courtroom. He frequently serves as first chair trial attorney in multi-million-dollar cases and has an established reputation for developing and executing successful litigation strategies.

In addition to his complex litigation and class action work, Linkin represents clients in investor claims, investment fraud, and stockbroker misconduct. He handles FINRA and AAA securities arbitration matters, and he is a consultant to publicly traded corporations on consumer protection matters, fiduciary matters, anti-trust matters, fraud claims, and complex state and federal securities matters.

"We are excited to have Rob join us," said MWM trial lawyer and partner Mike Wilson. "He is working on some high-profile cases and his FINRA experience is a great fit for many of our clients."

Linkin also has a niche practice in entertainment law, representing independent labels and recording artists. This practice area blends perfectly with MWM's established entertainment practice headed by two partners in the LA office and now gives the firm great market position in two of the nation's top entertainment cities.

Linkin is a member of the State Bar of Texas and received his J.D. from the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law at Yeshiva University.
