Overview

Residing in Texas, where energy, oil, and gas continues to evolve and grow, the Munck Wilson Mandala team offers extensive experience counseling clients whether they are exploring, developing, producing, financing, marketing, or transporting these finite resources. Providing expertise across multiple practice fields, we offer the full spectrum of services necessary for energy and oil and gas clients.

Experience

Munck Wilson Mandala combines our legal knowledge in real estate, land use, commercial, litigation, business development, mineral rights, insurance, and more, to provide multifaceted service to clients in the energy industry. Our team is proficient with contract negotiations, land disputes, exploration, regulatory, production, refining, storage, and more.

We have a unique practice focused on the needs of mid-sized E&P oil and gas producers in securities/finance law and securities litigation and enforcement. We have led transactions for the negotiations and contracts for the exploration and financing of oil and gas assets and we provide guidance on operational issues such as securities compliance, corporate finance, intellectual property protection, and workforce management.

When a client is facing securities fraud complaints or alleged violations of securities laws, our oil and gas legal team includes litigators equally experienced with administrative and judicial proceedings. We vigorously defend clients against regulatory compliance challenges, enforcement actions and class action lawsuits and represent our clients' interests in administrative reviews pertaining to permitting.
